VFX Producer

- > VFX Producers manage the whole process of creating the VFX for film or TV.
- > VFX producers write the bid; the document through which they persuade the Film or TV Series' Producer to take their VFX studio on to do VFX work on a project. VFX Producers put together the team of VFX artists and other technical staff.
- > They set the schedules for the work and they manage the budget. While filming is happening, VFX Producers work closely with the live-action production crew. They also work with the Editor in post-production. They communicate between the crew and Editor.

Animator

- > Animators imbue figures with personality by making them move in ways that show their character and emotion.
- > They create animation 'frames' (images), using the 'rig' (the digitally moveable 3D model). In the VFX industry, Animators produce work to be integrated into the live-action footage of a film or TV programme.
- > Animators in the VFX industry are either employed by VFX studios or they work as freelancers.
